TRAVEL COURSE TO AFRICA FOR ALL MAJORS!

Register now for spring 2003 to take Politics 210 (3 Credits)

Pre-requisites: None
Satisfies 3 Credits of: Exploratory Social/Behavioral Science, Contemporary Global Issues, International Studies or Politics Elective (Political Science Major or Minor)

Dyson students also receive a $300 discount!

Perks
- Meet Ambassadors and various other dignitaries in NY.
- Attend a one-day Model United Nations Conference held at the UN.
- While in Africa students will meet with ministers of the local government and other political leaders, representatives of media, financial, educational and religious institutions.
- Sight seeing and other local and cultural entertainment will also be provided.

Info
Contact: Prof. H. R. Clarke
E-Mail Address: hclarke@pace.edu, africantrip@hotmail.com
Phone Numbers: (212) 346-1469; (212) 346-1465
Address: 41 Park Row, 11th Fl., Rm. 1102

Africa

Course Description
Many countries in Africa are now practicing some form of democracy. Tanzania and Uganda present an interesting case study given that the two East African neighbors have had similar historical and political development. The trip will teach you how Tanzania has become a multiparty model for democratization and economic development in Africa. In contrast Uganda has restricted democratic changes, remaining a one party state and lagging in economic and civil growth. Students will gain an introduction to the field of comparative politics by examining case studies from various regions.